Speakers: Bill Forstner and Allyson Labban: “Ethical Dilemmas in Case Management”

Bill Forstner works as in-house counsel at WakeMed Health & Hospitals, where he is responsible for managing all claims and litigation (professional negligence, medical malpractice, commercial disputes) and providing daily advice on patient care issues, such as involuntary commitment, patient consent, guardianship, privacy, EMTALA, and medical record documentation. Before joining WakeMed’s in early 2016, Bill was in private practice and focused on complex health care litigation, regulatory, and medical-legal issues.

Allyson Jones Labban is Associate General Counsel at WakeMed Health & Hospitals, a 900+ bed healthcare system with more than 8,000 employees and multiple hospitals, stand-alone EDs, and other healthcare facilities in Wake County, North Carolina. At WakeMed, she provides regulatory compliance guidance on topics ranging from HIPAA and data privacy and security, Medicare and Medicaid billing and claims filing requirements, and Certificate of Need and licensure issues, as well as advice regarding risk management and clinical-legal issues. Before joining WakeMed’s in-house department in June 2018, Allyson was a partner at Smith Moore Leatherwood LLP in Greensboro. Her practice focused on HIPAA and regulatory compliance, including assisting hospitals and other clients with federal fraud and abuse investigations, ZPIC and other audits, OCR investigations, licensure and survey concerns, and bioethical and risk management assessments.
